

Pope Paul in Pledge to Try to Keep Peace

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI, in his first message to the world pledged today to continue the Vatican Ecumenical Council and strive for international peace.

The new Pope, clearly setting out on the path traced by Pope John XXIII, also promised to work for Christian unity and go ahead with the Canon Law revision that John started.

Pope Paul completed the outline of his program with the assurance he would support the policies of social justice outlined by his predecessors.

The prepared message in Latin, less than 24 hours after his election as 262nd supreme pontiff of the world's half billion Roman Catholics, was in effect a keynote speech.

The Retiring Should Claim SS Tax Early

"People planning to retire should file their social security claims before they retire in order to insure prompt payment of benefits," Otis A. Blackwood, social security district manager in Texarkana, said today.

Many people of retirement age do not get their first social security checks as early as they might, simply because they waited too long to apply for their benefits.

Applications may be filed any time within three months of when a person wants benefits to start. Since the average processing time of a claim is five weeks, Mr. Blackwood advised people to take advantage of this early filing and submit their applications as soon as possible.

Many claims are delayed because the applicants do not have the applications.

The Texarkana District Office is located at 121 West 33rd St., Texarkana, Texas. The phone number is 792-2735.

State Police to Get Cash, Faubus Says

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Thursday he thought surplus funds could be tapped to finance State Police operations through January 1, forcing the need for a special legislative session to provide the money.

But the governor, who has several times said that he might call a special session, didn't rule out the possibility. He said other matters might come up.

His comment came after State Police Director Herman Lindsey had told the Legislative Joint Auditing Committee that his agency would be without funds by mid-November.

Borrowing power of the department has been cut off by the State Comptroller's office, Lindsey said.

"We're just going to have to go home when we run out of cash," he told the committee.

Faubus, who did not attend the meeting, said when informed of Lindsey's remarks that he had conferred with Comptroller Louis A. Mashburn and Budget Director Julian Hogan and they agreed funds could be found.

The legislative committee had convened to review a special audit of State Police funds covering the period from July 1, 1961 through March 31 of this year.

Lindsey told the committee that at the end of the 1963-64 fiscal year the State Police would have a deficit of $268,228. By next January 31, he said, the department would be $320,222 in the red.

State Sen. Fred Stafford of Marked Tree laid the blame for the financial crisis of the department on the 1963 legislature, saying it should have provided funds.

Toward the close of the 1963 Legislature, Faubus asked lawmakers to approve an increase in the cost of drivers' licenses from $2 to $3 to provide operating funds for the State Police, but the House balked.

The special audit of funds was asked for after Lindsey announced a curtailment of State Police activities to enable the department to stretch its budgeted funds to the end of the year.

Party Will Retain Mr. Macmillan

LONDON (AP)—Britain's embattled Conservative party apparently has decided to let Prime Minister Macmillan stay in office until midsummer despite the Profumo scandal and then bow out as gracefully as he can.

A meeting of rank-and-file party members of the House of Commons lasted only 25 minutes Thursday night. It failed to produce expected demands for the prime minister's immediate retirement.

Sir Derek Walker Smith, former minister of health, warned that to oust Macmillan now might bring on national elections that the party probably would lose.

Macmillan went on with his duties, giving no sign he is thinking of withdrawing.

He refused Thursday to yield to demands that an all-party committee from the House of Commons investigate security aspects of former War Minister John Profumo's affair with Christine Keeler, a young party girl who at the time was having an affair with an assistant Soviet naval attaché.

The prime minister told Commons Monday that reports of the affair were kept from him.

Macmillan insisted that the investigation be directed by a judge. Christine was questioned for two hours Thursday by detectives preparing the case against Stephen Ward, 50, a socialite osteopath accused of running a call girl ring.

As expected, Laborite Merlyn Rees on Thursday won the seat left vacant by the death of Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell. The Conservatives polled 20.1 per cent of the vote, a drop of 10.9 per cent from their showing at Leeds in the 1959 general election.

5 Negroes Charged in Man's Death

WASHINGTON (AP)—Five Negroes have surrendered and been charged with homicide in the death of a young white soldier after a street brawl.

But authorities said it appears that the soldier, Pvt. Edward J. Belcher, 19, of Brooklyn, N.Y., died as a result of having been run over accidentally by the defendants' car after he had been knocked down in the scuffle early Wednesday in Washington.

The five—four men and a woman—were arraigned at a special hearing at General Sessions Court late Wednesday night after turning themselves in at a precinct station. They entered no pleas and were ordered held without bond, their cases continued until Saturday.

Police identified them as Sheila M. Turner, 20; Floyd T. Smith, 22; Leon Dillard Jr., 22; Thomas A. Green 22, and Gerald L. Jack, son, 22—all of nearby Arlington, Va.

Belcher was pronounced dead at D. C. General Hospital at 2:30 a.m. Wednesday shortly after he and two other Ft. Belvoir, Va., soldiers got into a fight with the four male defendants when their two cars stopped at an intersection.

Authorities thought Belcher had died as a result of the fight. But Coroner Richard A. Whelton found that the soldier died of crushing chest injuries from being run over by a car—first thought to have been the car in which Belcher had been riding.

But Deputy Police Chief John Layton said later "it appears instead that the car the defendants were riding in was the one that backed onto Belcher's body."

Inspector Richard J. Felber, assistant chief of detectives, said the police investigation was complicated at first by the fact that Belcher's two soldier companions—Pvt. James Spencer, 22, of Wethersfield, Conn., and Philip J. Cheng, 22, of Seaside, Calif.—had been drinking and were vague as to what had happened.

The decision to desegregate the first grade also was surprising. The board has contended that desegregation should start only in the lowest grade of the three major school divisions—elementary, junior high and senior high.

Desegregation of the first grade this fall was expected, although the board had not said definitely it would make this move.

Thursday's announcement put Phase III of the Little Rock desegregation plan into effect. Under Phases I and II, 102 Negroes had earlier been assigned to integrated junior and senior high schools for the coming term. Three more were assigned Thursday as the board heard appeals of 16 Negroes from the earlier assignments.

The stage was set for desegregation of the first grade when the board mailed questionnaires last month to the parents of pre-schoolers asking them to state a school preference. Eleven Negroes requested assignment to white schools. The board approved nine and rejected two of these requests.

Consideration of the appeals had been scheduled Thursday. Twelve of the requests were denied on grounds that the appeal was made too late. The other request was from a Negro student who wanted to move from an integrated class to an all-Negro class. This was approved.

Integration of the fourth grade was opposed by board member J. H. Colrell Jr., who said it meant the beginning of "total integration," and by Board President Everett Tucker, Jr.

Another board member, Russell A. Matson Jr., said the decision to integrate the two grades had nothing to do with an announcement earlier this week by Negro attorney Wiley Brant of Atlanta that demonstrations would be held if elementary classes were not integrated by this fall.

JFK Calls in Bitter Rivals in Race Issue

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy brings under one roof today 30 Negro and white civil rights spokesmen, some of them bitter rivals for leadership in the drive to smash racial barriers.

The White House session, bringing together some AFL-CIO officials as well as heads of organizations that have spearheaded demonstrations for Negro equality, will be Kennedy's fourth meeting this week in his effort to quiet and settle the turbulent integration scene.

Among those invited to meet with Kennedy, who leaves tonight on a 10-day trip to Europe, are Dr. Martin Luther King, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference; Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; James Farmer, national secretary of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE); Ralph McGill, editor of the Atlanta, Ga., Constitution; and A. Phillip Randolph, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters.

This week Wilkins brought into the open the feud among the organizations fighting for civil rights.

Speaking at a NAACP rally, Wilkins sharply criticized CORE, Dr. King's Christian Leadership Conference and the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee.

Contending that other groups "furnish the noise" while the NAACP "pays the bills," Wilkins told the rally "don't go giving them your money when it should be given to us."

What precisely Kennedy wishes to discuss with the civil rights leaders today was not disclosed.

One cause for concern in the administration are the explosive demonstrations—some of which have flared into rioting—in North and South, and government officials have been laboring to keep the lid on.

Within the past three weeks the President himself has conferred with theater owners, operators of retail stores, motels and hotels, labor leaders, churchmen, educators and—Friday—lawyers.

For more than an hour Kennedy talked with 244 of the country's leading attorneys—60 of them from the South—in the White House East Room.

At Kennedy's request, they established a committee to work toward establishing better communications between whites and Negroes.

One lawyer said the thrust of Kennedy's argument was not for his legislative program—to which some of the Southern lawyers objected—but an appeal for the lawyers to work in their hometowns for racial harmony.

McGHEE, Ark. (AP)—Homer Berry of North Little Rock said Thursday he has been offered a long-term contract to bring rain to the McGhee, Dermott and Portland area whenever it is needed.

Berry, a retired Air Force major who took a rash of jobs around the state after claiming he brought rain to parched southern Arkansas, said he would move his home to McGhee.

Terms of the new contract were not announced.

Farmers at McGhee paid Berry $1,500 Thursday for rain he said he brought during the past week and he was to have gotten $1,000 in Portland and another $1,500 in Dermott later the same day.

Pine Bluff farmers have already paid Berry $1,000 and gave him another $1,000 at a banquet in his honor Thursday night.

This brought to some $8,500 the total amount collected by Berry for rainmaking efforts in six Arkansas communities.

Berry did not say when he planned to move to McGhee.

President to Leave Tonight for Europe

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy sets out tonight on a 10-day tour of Europe that may derive its greatest significance from his multiple appearances in European television screens.

Kennedy's voice and image—carrying a personal message of friendship from America—will be brought within range of more than 25 million television receivers in at least 12 western European countries.

The most dramatic moment expected Wednesday when much of Europe will see a seven-hour, step-by-step telecast of Kennedy's motor tour through Communist-encircled Berlin.

Television audiences will see the President mount a special platform at the Checkpoint Charlie border crossing to peer over the 22-month-old Berlin wall.

Parts of the Berlin program will be beamed live to the United States via both the Telstar and Relay satellites.

Kennedy plans to begin his four-country journey at 9:30 p.m. EDT tonight, taking off by jet transport from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., after spending much of the day with his family at Camp David, Md.

West Germany will be the first stop, followed—in order—by Ireland, England, Italy and Vatican City. The Vatican was placed on the itinerary Friday so Kennedy can meet with Pope Paul VI, the new leader of the President's Roman Catholic faith.

Konrad Adenauer, West Germany's soon-to-retire chancellor, will welcome Kennedy to that country at Wahn Airport Sunday morning.

The arrival ceremony will mark the start of the most extensive television coverage ever given an American president in Europe.

Although television's role in the Kennedy trip has been largely overlooked, it could hold the key to success or failure of the president's mission.

High Court Usually Under an Attack

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court — depending on whose ox was gored — has been under attack since its beginning. Since everybody has an ox, new attacks never stop. But this year's were milder than many.

The 1962-63 session, just ended, was one of the busiest in history. But the decisions covered areas generally less sensational than in other years or areas where the court had thrust its horn before and the shock had worn off.

One clear fact emerged this year: The liberals have a clear majority in the nine-man court although they didn't stick together in every instance.

Liberal as used here means: Deciding in favor of the rights and freedoms of the individual against the pressure of the state.

In this sense the liberals on the court are definitely Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justices Hugo Black, William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr. and Arthur Goldberg.

The conservatives, although they often line up with the liberals, particularly on civil rights, are John M. Harlan, Potter Stewart and Tom Clark. In some cases liberals, some of them, line up with conservatives to make a majority.

The ninth member of the court, Justice Byron R. White, is a little harder to bracket.

This was the first full term for Goldberg, former secretary of labor, and White, former deputy attorney general, whom President Kennedy appointed in 1962. From the beginning Goldberg lined up with the liberals and has remained there.

White is definitely more conservative than Goldberg but, because he switches around so much, he cannot be placed in either camp absolutely. It may be his decision to follow an alternating course.

In 1962, one of its most tempestuous years, the court found itself assailed from two directions: Religious and political.

In one historic decision it upset the ancient dominance of state legislatures by country voters, who blocked reforms to give growing cities more voice, by calling for reapportionment in the legislatures. Country politicians howled.

In another equally historic action the court prohibited any city or state government from prescribing any specially written prayer to be read in public schools.

In emotional outbursts the court was accused of undermining religion. But the court still hadn't answered the question: Would it forbid any state or city from requiring religious reading—like the Bible—in public schools?

It seemed the court would, judging from the 1962 decision and its long history of decisions which sought to keep church, any church, and the state (meaning schools) separate.

The court did on June 17, one of its last acts before closing for the summer. It outlawed the required reading of the Bible and the Lord's Prayer in any public school. The complaints against the court this time were comparatively mild.

And so was the reaction from politicians — following up its 1962 reapportionment decision — when the court last March 18 said all votes in statewide elections must have equal weight. This hit county unit voting systems.

In the prayer case the vote was 8 to 1. Again Goldberg and White were with the majority. This time Harlan was the lone dissenter.

Yet, in another religious case, when the court said South Carolina can't deprive of unemployment pay a Seventh Day Adventist woman fired for refusing to work on Saturday, Harlan and White were the only ones dissenting.

In all the civil rights cases, most of which were unanimous, White and Goldberg were with the majority in each one.

Particularly notable among the civil rights cases were these:

The court ordered desegregation of Memphis' recreational facilities; it threw out the conviction of lunch-counter sit-ins and said a state can't require segregation in business places; and it banned segregation in courtrooms.

In the field of civil liberties White was much more conservative. For example: The court, 5 to 4, overturned the conviction of Edward Yellin for contempt of Congress in refusing to testify about Communist party activities in the steel industry around Gary, Ind. In this one White was in the minority with Clark, Harlan and Stewart.

In another 5-4 decision, White, Harlan, Stewart and Clark were in the minority when the majority of the justices ordered a federal court in California to determine

Economic Transition in Europe

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—President Kennedy is going to a Europe that is in transition economically as well as politically.

New problems—many like those plaguing the United States—are popping up. And how a divided Europe meets them is of prime concern to American business and hence to American workers.

The European Common Market still flourishes—but not at the exciting growth rate that Americans earlier had been led to expect. And this easing is leading Europeans to take a harder look at their relations with U.S. business.

Several European countries are beginning to fret about a rising deficit in their balance of payments—that nagging problem that in the United States often is recorded in terms of loss of gold reserves.

Europe's imports are rising as newly prosperous consumers demand more U.S.-type goods. They are buying more from abroad and they are selling abroad. And some European governments are threatening still tighter import quotas or higher tariffs to curb the flow of American goods.

This is a chief stumbling block to the Kennedy round of tariff bargaining that will enter an important preliminary phase in Geneva while the President will be in Europe. The Kennedy round is hopefully aimed at slashing some tariffs by 50 per cent—both here and there—as provided by the powers the President got from Congress last year. The hopes at the moment are clouded.

One way American corporations have had of getting around Europe's high tariffs, restrictive quotas and currency curbs has been to build plants overseas and thus produce and sell as insiders. This year has seen a rising demand in several European countries that such American investment be discouraged. The idea is to protect the native producers in their hold on their expanding consumer markets.

Inflation is a threat again in some parts of Europe. This is on higher wage scales at the production level and booming demand at the stepped up drives to undersell in world markets, as well as to a clamor for protection against imports of American goods.

Complicating the entire picture the European economy this year has been the rising threat of a trade war on the Continent between rival European blocs. This grew out of the veto by France of Britain's entry into the Common Market.

Much of America's foreign trade policy had been tailored to the expectation that a united Europe would evolve soon, and that the United States could reach a mutually beneficial trade agreement.

This is the economic background to the President's trip which the political potentials tend to overshadow.

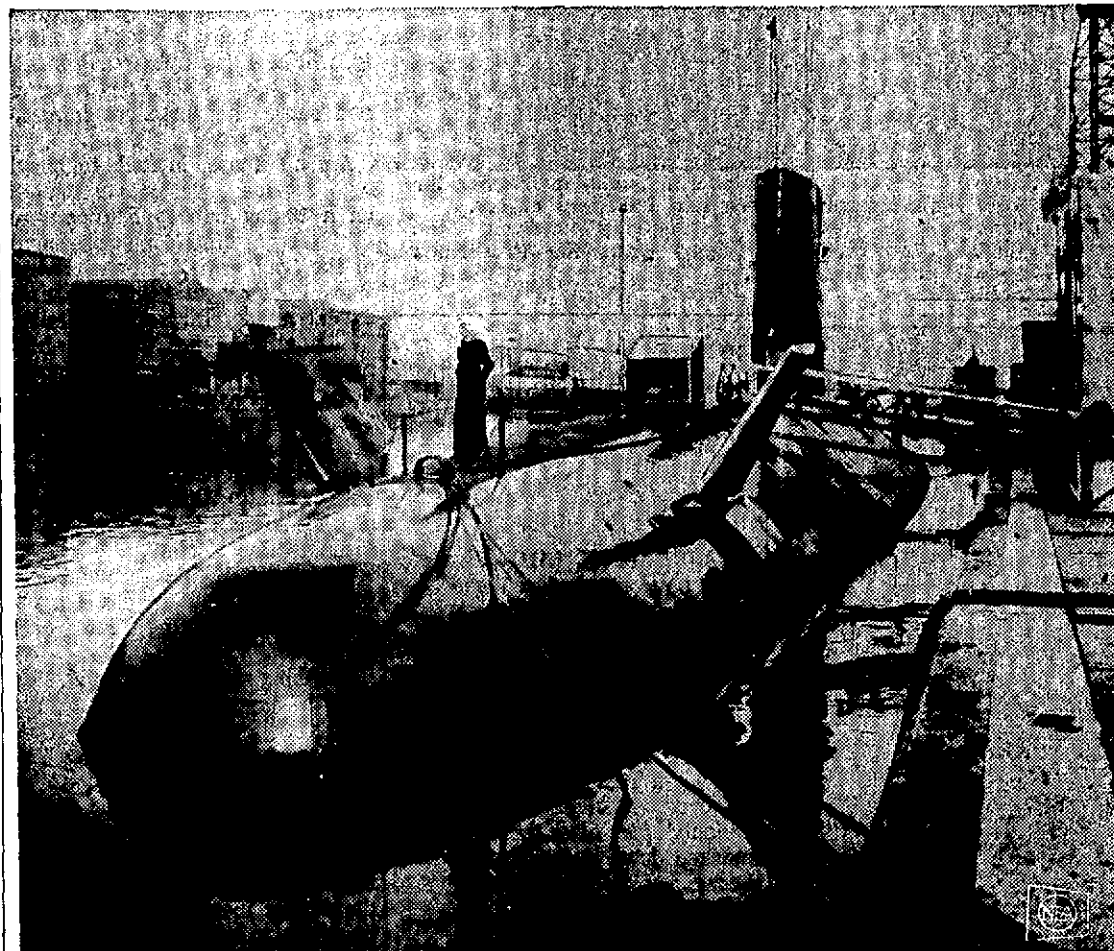

whether an afternoon's visit to Mexico is a departure to a foreign port or to a place under immigration law.

Again White, Clark, Harlan and Stewart were in the minority in a 5-4 ruling which blocked deportation of a former Communist to Mexico.

But the shifting around sometimes got dizzy in other cases: One time Black alone among the liberals teamed up with the conservatives to make a majority; another when Warren and Black did, leaving Goldberg, Brennan and Douglas in a minority; and other where Warren, Black and Brennan joined Clark in a minority dissent. And that's only part of it.

SATURDAY'S WASH LINE

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: The anthropologist who said, "What a contemporary woman needs the most is a contemporary man to go with her," hit the nail on the head.

Why don't you so-called human advisors (and sociologists) start training and pressuring men in thoughtfulness and the attributes of living in a civilized community, instead of excusing all the thoughtless, disruptive things they do to harmonious living to their being "he-men."

For your information, I don't use these tactics with my husband and he is still around and has adjusted to my tactics in many ways. Not all, of course, as one does not expect another human being to change his ways completely. I don't think picking up after a man is necessary, and I am also combative.

Most men are simply clods when it comes to understanding (or caring) about how a woman feels about anything. Using diplomacy and tact on a man goes over his head like a Beethoven symphony. The only way a woman can manage the average man in a tactful way is to adjust to him in the major things, then get her way in little, unimportant things of life.

There are exceptions to this, of course, but this is what is causing a lot of trouble in marriages. The men have had it so good, they are not interested in giving women freedom of thought and action because whoever voluntarily gave up his slave?

Men need to come part way to make a happy marriage and they don't come willingly. Our culture still supports the old patriarchal attitudes that women should revolve around men, and if the man brings in all the money each day he is the king pin.

How many marriages I know where the wife works a full work ing day just as her husband does and instead of appreciating her extra efforts and helping her a little at home, he grumbles because he doesn't get the service to which he feels entitled.

Justice is justice, and these unresolved conflicts cause a lot of bottled up hate in women (and men, too). Men should definitely take some courses on being a good husband and our culture should pressure them into cooperating.

Why ask a wife if she needs to work. Maybe she wants to. Let's stop this pushing women back all the time into revolving around some men. That's what is the matter with the world today. Too much revolving around pow-

er. —A Reader

Dear Reader: At least you are articulate! I wonder how many other wives are in your camp. Will those who are for, or against your views, speak up?

Dear Helen: Tell me if you can how I may help my 9-year-old son. He was my first child (I now have five); walked early, talked early and was quick to catch on. We lived with his grandparents for a year and a half. They spoiled him every time he got scolded and spoiled him generally. We spoiled him too. As a consequence he is still the baby; cries when he gets in a jam, daydreams, and often refuses to answer when spoken to. But he'll hear if he wants to and can be independent when it suits him.

He does well as a Cub Scout, is a laggard at Sunday School and both loves and fears me. I am frankly worried at his eccentricities and odd ways. Where have I failed? The other children are natural, everyday kids. —Worried Mother

Dear Worried Mother: Relax! If only one out of your five children has what you call "eccentricities," your batting average is high. His symptoms do not sound very odd to me. I think your diagnosis of early spoiling by parents and grandparents may be correct. But you needn't have guilt feelings about it because it's quite common in the case of a first-born, and you now realize the mistake.

Daydreaming in moderation is not unusual, and by the time he's 10 he'll rarely cry when frustrated. To me, the tip off that he is entirely normal is that he is an enthusiastic Cub Scout and unenthusiastic about Sunday School. It were the other way around, then I would be worried.

Dear Helen: In a recent column you told "Middle Man," the guy who couldn't dance, to let time heal the breach between his girl and his mother; you were ignoring the feelings of the poor girl. Why shouldn't she object when he refused to attend her graduation because he wasn't a dancing man? And what right has his mother to interfere?

Every girl looks forward to the day she graduates; the beautiful gowns, the festivities, the glamor of the ballroom scene, the night of the prom.

My very popular daughter went to three senior proms this year. The cost of the last party was $3,000. She may never again go to a party as terrific as that but she will always have her wonderful memories of it. Send Middle Man a telegram.

Station Without Power 12 Hours

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Little Rock television station KATV, Channel 11, went back on the air at 10:30 p.m. Thursday, after being without power for nearly 12 hours.

The station said a "flash electrical fire" at its transmitter at Jefferson Springs, north of Pine Bluff, at 11:10 a.m. Thursday, caused the loss of power.

Wants $253,600 for a Kick

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"A fat, bald and flat-footed man like me should not have tried the dance," Benjamin Satz admitted in court.

But Satz, 58, asked a Superior Court jury Thursday to award him $253,600 damages for a kick he suffered when he joined a conga line at the Hotel Flamingo in Las Vegas.

Satz claimed he was kicked in the left leg by one of the chorines Aug. 14, 1959 and subsequently developed phlebitis.

The hotel contends it wasn't negligent. It says Satz, a furniture dealer from Long Beach, Calif., assumed the risk when he joined the conga line.

his girl to the prom he'd better not marry her because she will always hold it against him. —One Mover Who Understands Her Daughter.

Dear Helen: The husband of that ex-stripe teaser who was the main attraction at a Chicago night club had better watch out. He'll live to regret the day he didn't keep his big mouth shut about her past. At least she has the gumption to be a little ashamed of it.

When I was young I had a good figure (still do), was an honest-to-God blonde with comely baby blue eyes and when I used to flip my lashes at men they fell on their faces (they still do). There the comparison ends. I've never been a strip-teaser and would very likely look at the female in question cross-eyed but not from jealousy. You certainly handed this woman some strange advice when you told her in effect not to worry if her husband was proud of her past. Make the most of it. That girl just can't erase a past like that. —Face Facts

Would Tra Deprived Americans

By BARRY SCHMEID

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has asked Congress to approve a massive federal vocational training and education program designed to aid economically deprived Negro and white Americans.

The President's program, first mentioned in his civil rights message Wednesday, was spelled out in three bills he forwarded Thursday to Capitol Hill. They call for an estimated federal outlay next year of $300 million.

One bill would expand the manpower development program authorized next year, a second would step up the vocational education measure now being considered by the Senate and the third assist adults now on welfare roles primarily by increasing their basic educational skills.

In his message Kennedy had cited the problems of those who are "illiterate and unskilled, unable to read a help wanted advertisement."

"Although the proportion of Negroes without an adequate education and training is far higher than the proportion of whites," Kennedy said, "none of these problems is restricted to Negroes alone."

Among other things, the President called for:

1. A new $70-million program to teach adults to read and write so they can take advantage of federal retraining programs.
2. Earmarking funds for special boarding schools to train out-of-school jobless youths.

3. Lowering the age for youths eligible for training allowances from 19 to 16 and raising the proportion of training allowances for young people from 5 to 15 per cent.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said the manpower bill would cost $100 million in the next fiscal year. Secretary of War Anthony J. Celebrezze put a $200-million price tag on the two other measures.

Next week, the House Judiciary Committee will start hearings on the President's civil rights package with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy as the lead-off witness.

Coach Wyatt Loses Job at Tennessee
KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Tennessee's football scene has taken on a new look likely to extend from the front office to the playing field.
The new faces are Jim McDonald, former Ohio State star named to replace Bowden Wyatt as head coach, and Bob Woodruff, former Florida and Baylor coach named athletic director.
Both were coaching assistants during an eight-year tenure which ended Thursday with a decision by the university Board of Trustees to terminate Wyatt's contract.
Among the old standbys, Tennessee's single wing attack, which McDonald says he will keep.
"We won't junk the single wing," he said after receiving a new $15,000 salary and head coach's title, "but we will modify it."
McDonald said he definitely will use the man-in-motion with split ends and "some T-formation stuff too."
Woodruff, whose salary was set at $16,000, pledged every effort to unite Tennessee fans behind the athletic program.
Wyatt, who compiled a won-lost record of 25-22-3 the past five years, was not around when the trustees made the new appointments. He has been hospitalized for a month at Radford, Va., with no official word of his condition.
The board, giving him his $18,000 annual salary through June, 1964, wished him a "speedy recovery."
Wyatt went to Tennessee after coaching the Arkansas Razorbacks to a Southwest Conference championship in 1954.

Deans Truckers Belt Camden 6 to 5 in 12th
Last night the local ball park was invaded by one of the best semi-pro teams in Arkansas, who tangled with Deans Truckers, a local team who plays heads-up ball.
It was strictly a pitcher's duel, backed up by good fielding on both sides. Troy Buck was on the mound for Hope.
In the 9th inning the score was tied up 4 all, in the 11th it was 5 all, but in the last of the 12th, Ray Duke of Hope belted out a long fly with the bases loaded to end any hope for the Camden team.
Tonight at 8 Deans Truckers take on a team from Homer, La. at Legion Field. If you like to watch good baseball, come on out, there is no charge.

Wants to Avoid Race Violence
NASHVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Rev. W. M. Benson, a Negro minister who attended a civil rights conference on invitation of President Kennedy, said on his return that the President asked for ministerial organization to avoid racial violence.
Benson said Kennedy told the group attending the conference there would be "terrible destruction in less than three months" unless they could "get together and organize... to understand each other and try to settle this racial problem."
Several white and Negro leaders met in Nashville this week to discuss such organization, Benson said. He did not reveal whether a formal organization of ministerial leaders was planned.

Tax Court Rules Against Wilson
WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Tax Court ruled Thursday against Ralph E. Wilson of Osceola, Ark., in a case in which the Internal Revenue Service contended the attorney and banker owed $2,278 more 1958 income tax than he had paid.
The IRS contended Wilson prepared federal tax returns for persons who then obtained loans from his Liberal, Mo. bank in the amount of refunds to which they were entitled.
It also contended the bank retained a discount, which was deposited in Wilson's account.
Wilson contended he received notes with no fair market value and that no income tax was due on them until they were paid. Some of the notes, he said, were never paid.

Sikes Wins Again at Wichita
By JOE MCKNIGHT
WICHITA (AP)—Dick Sikes of Arkansas became a bigger factor in college golf's biggest tournament today and his chances were enhanced by the defeat of Houston's Kermit Zarley.
Sikes, a slender Walker Cup player from Springdale, Ark., faced Pat Thompson of Texas in one semifinal match of the National College Athletic Association's golf championships.
The other semifinal pitted John Lotz of San Jose (Calif.) State against Jerry Potter of Miami (Fla.).
The tournament is over Wichita Country Club's flat fairways and tough, rolling greens. Far for the 6,040-yard layout is 70.
Sikes disposed of two contenders from North Texas State in Thursday's quarter-finals. He had an easy time knocking off Harry Hoskins 5 and 4 and demonstrated remarkable coolness and skill in stopping Bobby Greenwood 2 and 1.
Zarley, individual champion and qualifying medalist in 1962, lost to Thompson 2 and 1 in the quarter final round. Thompson shot even par—66—for the 17 holes he and Zarley played. Zarley was 2 over, taking 55 on the 12th and 15th, both par 4s.
Potter was pushed to 21 holes before gaining a fourth-round 1-up victory over Randy Geiselman of Texas.
Lotz gained the semi-finals with a 1-up victory over Dick Poe of Missouri, an upset winner of his earlier rounds.

Funnel Clouds Bring Alarm
STUTTGART, Ark. (AP)—A funnel-shaped cloud formed over Stuttgart Thursday evening and, as anxious residents watched, touched down twice about three miles from the city in open country before dissipating.
Police Chief Harold Lammers said he followed the funnel and saw it pass within a quarter of a mile of the west city limits.
No damage was reported and there were no injuries.
Onlookers described the funnel as a "long, twisting rope" that formed from the meeting of two passing weather fronts.
Several residents drove their cars to the outskirts of the city to watch the funnel's activity.
The U.S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock said after the funnel was sighted that there were no cell formations in the state conducive to tornadoes.
One other funnel was reported near Jonesboro, but it was not seen to touch down.

When To Fish or Hunt Solunar Tables
By John Alden Knight
The schedule of Solunar periods shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration, as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.
The Major periods are shown in bold face type. These begin at the time shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The minor periods, continuity; it's not completion. This surely is the evening of the year, but after dusk comes starlight, and dawn—and another day. Right now, and here, we are in the presence of forever.
He was looking down at me, and, turning to him, I went into his arms. He held me close, safe, warm, and beloved.
This was what I wanted of life, this man—to make a home for him, to bear his children, to be proud in marriage to him forever. Smokey stroked my hair, and sighed. "Four years," he said, regretfully.
I lifted my head to look into his eyes. "What?" I whispered. "Four years, Jannie," he said again. "We could have had those years — but I had to wait. I thought I had to know—where she was—and if you would be safe." "It didn't matter, Smokey." He kissed me.

Coach Wyatt Loses Job at Tennessee
KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Tennessee's football scene has taken on a new look likely to extend from the front office to the playing field.
The new faces are Jim McDonald, former Ohio State star named to replace Bowden Wyatt as head coach, and Bob Woodruff, former Florida and Baylor coach named athletic director.
Both were coaching assistants during an eight-year tenure which ended Thursday with a decision by the university Board of Trustees to terminate Wyatt's contract.
Among the old standbys, Tennessee's single wing attack, which McDonald says he will keep.
"We won't junk the single wing," he said after receiving a new $15,000 salary and head coach's title, "but we will modify it."
McDonald said he definitely will use the man-in-motion with split ends and "some T-formation stuff too."
Woodruff, whose salary was set at $16,000, pledged every effort to unite Tennessee fans behind the athletic program.
Wyatt, who compiled a won-lost record of 25-22-3 the past five years, was not around when the trustees made the new appointments. He has been hospitalized for a month at Radford, Va., with no official word of his condition.
The board, giving him his $18,000 annual salary through June, 1964, wished him a "speedy recovery."
Wyatt went to Tennessee after coaching the Arkansas Razorbacks to a Southwest Conference championship in 1954.

Deans Truckers Belt Camden 6 to 5 in 12th
Last night the local ball park was invaded by one of the best semi-pro teams in Arkansas, who tangled with Deans Truckers, a local team who plays heads-up ball.
It was strictly a pitcher's duel, backed up by good fielding on both sides. Troy Buck was on the mound for Hope.
In the 9th inning the score was tied up 4 all, in the 11th it was 5 all, but in the last of the 12th, Ray Duke of Hope belted out a long fly with the bases loaded to end any hope for the Camden team.
Tonight at 8 Deans Truckers take on a team from Homer, La. at Legion Field. If you like to watch good baseball, come on out, there is no charge.

Wants to Avoid Race Violence
NASHVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Rev. W. M. Benson, a Negro minister who attended a civil rights conference on invitation of President Kennedy, said on his return that the President asked for ministerial organization to avoid racial violence.
Benson said Kennedy told the group attending the conference there would be "terrible destruction in less than three months" unless they could "get together and organize... to understand each other and try to settle this racial problem."
Several white and Negro leaders met in Nashville this week to discuss such organization, Benson said. He did not reveal whether a formal organization of ministerial leaders was planned.

Tax Court Rules Against Wilson
WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Tax Court ruled Thursday against Ralph E. Wilson of Osceola, Ark., in a case in which the Internal Revenue Service contended the attorney and banker owed $2,278 more 1958 income tax than he had paid.
The IRS contended Wilson prepared federal tax returns for persons who then obtained loans from his Liberal, Mo. bank in the amount of refunds to which they were entitled.
It also contended the bank retained a discount, which was deposited in Wilson's account.
Wilson contended he received notes with no fair market value and that no income tax was due on them until they were paid. Some of the notes, he said, were never paid.

Sikes Wins Again at Wichita
By JOE MCKNIGHT
WICHITA (AP)—Dick Sikes of Arkansas became a bigger factor in college golf's biggest tournament today and his chances were enhanced by the defeat of Houston's Kermit Zarley.
Sikes, a slender Walker Cup player from Springdale, Ark., faced Pat Thompson of Texas in one semifinal match of the National College Athletic Association's golf championships.
The other semifinal pitted John Lotz of San Jose (Calif.) State against Jerry Potter of Miami (Fla.).
The tournament is over Wichita Country Club's flat fairways and tough, rolling greens. Far for the 6,040-yard layout is 70.
Sikes disposed of two contenders from North Texas State in Thursday's quarter-finals. He had an easy time knocking off Harry Hoskins 5 and 4 and demonstrated remarkable coolness and skill in stopping Bobby Greenwood 2 and 1.
Zarley, individual champion and qualifying medalist in 1962, lost to Thompson 2 and 1 in the quarter final round. Thompson shot even par—66—for the 17 holes he and Zarley played. Zarley was 2 over, taking 55 on the 12th and 15th, both par 4s.
Potter was pushed to 21 holes before gaining a fourth-round 1-up victory over Randy Geiselman of Texas.
Lotz gained the semi-finals with a 1-up victory over Dick Poe of Missouri, an upset winner of his earlier rounds.

For Starving Souls

To build this church, that is our job." With Christ as foundation, this group of men have pledged to build...to make more pews available for neglected souls. These men are stewards of the Most High, armed with resolution to "build a church for His name," for starving souls. Every extra hour and every spare nickel goes into this responsibility entrusted to this company of Kingdom workers.

These men are our neighbors. They are ministering to hungry souls...souls of boys and girls who need God. Souls of men and women whose wrecked bodies and warped minds need the healing, strengthening and comforting fellowship this church will give. Jesus said, "Take heed to the ministry which thou hast received in the Lord, that thou fulfill it." God's invitation to attend His Temples of Worship is addressed to you and yours. His invitation is eternal.

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. These choices on Sunday, "You in the Church and the Church in you"—form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH-GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.
